able to clost any information in regard to it, your Committee can offer no. pinkin as to the purpose for which or by whom this was done. The warrant was regularly entered as issued for pay ment, and that this fact could be ascertained by an examination of the book in which the Chamberlain enters the data, number and amount of the checks which be returns to the Controller's office in order to obtain credit for the amounts paid by him. The Controller added that if both checks were returned on this book, as pid by the Chamberlain, it would adord conclusive evidence that a double payment had been made by the issue of two warrants for the same sum; if, on the contrary, the Chamberlain had returned only the amount of the check which Mr. Franklin held in his hand at that time, it would be equally conclusive that the missing check had been canceled and not issued.

The book above referred to was examined by the clerks in the F n nee Department, and it was found that only the check No. 2,079 for $3,100, was returned and credited to the Chamberlain.

After the publication of the report of the Committee, in examining checks which had been made out and canceled before being signed by the Mayor and Clerk, and issued, the identical Caeck No. 2,004, for $3,100, dated Sept. 2, 1856, was found, signed only by the Controller. The Battery Enlargement—Report of the Committee.—The Committee on Wharves, Piers and Ships, to whom were referred the subject of making a new contract for the completion of the Battery Enlargement, made a long report to the Board, which paper was ordered printed. They advise a new contract, and that the City proceed against the present contractor to recover damages for the non-fluidilment of his agreement. The Committee report that the enlargement contract was extended. City proceed against the present of his agreement. changes for the non-fluidilment of his agreement. The Committee report that the enlargement contract was exceeded on the 25th of November, 1854, with Henry Corklin, who agreed for the sum of $27,131 to complete the same in all its deall in three years from the confirmation, viz., Nov. 25, 1855; and although a period of two years and six months has elapsed since the expiration of the time specified, the work at this time is not more than half performed. That the most important provisions of the contract have been unterly disregarded and violated, and advantage is now, and has for two years and a half, been taken of such violations, through the supmeness and indifference of the Common Council, to convert what was indicated as a great public benefit into the instrument of enriching a few private speculators, and that too by the most positive and wanton violations, not only of the contract itself, but of some of the most ancient and valued chartered rights and franchises of the city as is evidenced in the establishment of terry fixtures and appliances on the land fronting on the water made by the contraction, and over which he on his assignee claims to exercise exclusive control and jurisdiction independent of the Common challenged of the Battery Enlargement, ever city as is evidenced in the establishment of terry fixtures and appliances on the land founting on the water made by the contractor, and over which he or his assigned claims to exercise exclusive control and jurisdiction independent of the Common Courad, until the completion of the Battery Enlargement, even were that much desired event to be postponed indomittely.

The Committee state that, fortunately, a clause in the agreement will cashle the Common Council to have the work completed through the instrumentality of the Street Commissioner; that the contractor has willfully and recklessly violated the terms of his contract, and it consequently becomes the imperative duty of the Cammon Council to hold him and his suretices to a rigid accountability, and if possible obtain from them such examplary damages as will tend in future to prevent the recurrence of such practices by parties contracting to perform public work, and, when advantageous to them, falling to comply with the terms of terirocostracts—a practice heretofore indulged in with impunity, not only in this but in many other cases.

3 The Committee fully coincide with the views and opinion of Mr. Busteed, Coincel to the Corporation, that a suit brought against these parties must be for damages based on the difference between the price at which they squeed to perform the work and the sum at waith it can now be done. The Committee present evaluations sufforting the Street Commissioner to alvertise for proposals for a new contract to the lowest bidder, and that the Counse on the continuation of the new contract, proceed against Mr. Conklin and his sureties and assignee, for damages, also, that the Counsel commence a suit against the parties running a ferry from the Battery grounds to Staten Island without consent or the common Council, to recover from them what the said privilege may be deemed worth, and another suit against them for freedess and violation of the private rights of the Corporation.

THE IN REPORT IN — DESTRUCTION OF A COTTON BATTING MANUFACTORY BY FIRE.

The extensive cutton batting manufactory of Bellows & Co. in William street, between Van Brunt and Imlay streets, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The building was of brick, three stories in hight, and had a front of 200 feet by 50 feet in depth. The fire was discovered in the neighborhood of the fine in the third story about 1 o'clock, and the room being filled with light and combustible material, the flar as spread rapidly and even extended over the whole building. The present company, known as the Hamilton Masufacturing Company, obtained possession of the premises in January last, and fitted it with new machinery, and put is a large amount of stock, which, at the time of the fire, was manufactured at the rate of 1,000 pounds per day. About thirty girls were employed and only four men.

The books and papers were saved, but, with the exception of a few bales of batting, all the stock and machinery were destroyed. The building was completely gutted within an hour after the fire commerced, and the walls tumbled down with a crash. The building was owned by a vidow named Schuyler, and was valued at about $10,000. The stock consisted of a large amount of manufactured and raw material, with the machinery, boilers, &c., and was valued at nearly $35,000, upon which there was an insurance of

The firemen were soon at work, an confined the fiames to the interior of the building. Damage birs and water about $400. The fire originated in the rear of the building, and was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. The building was created and occupied for many years by the Dutel Reformed Society as a thunk, but was removed from the open site side of the atreet to make room for a more singant edifice. Since that time it has been converted into a public hall.

CONSECRATION .- The Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, more familiarly known as the Memorial Church of Bishep Wainwright, situated at the corner of Hammond street and Waverley place, was consecrated on Tuesday last by Bishop Potter, the Society according to the usual requirements, having first liquidated all claims against the building. In the Summer of 1854, the Rev. E. R. I. Cook conceived the idea of effecting the organization of a Free Church in the vicinity of the present location, and the subject being suggested to the lata Bishop Wainwright, then Provisional Bishop of the diocese, he not only mani-fested his approval of the measure, but also deeply interested himself in the matter. Before the organiza-tion of the Society was completed, the Bishop died. The ladies who had slready united and been active in the effort to organize the Society, in respect for the memory of a good man and faithful Bishop, resolved to make their undertaking his memorial, and in the month of November of 1854 the Society of the "La-"dies' Memorial of Bishop Wainwright "was organized, and in response to their appeal, about $11,000 was promptly raised for the object in view. About the same time the present place of worship, originally built for a Congregational Society, then sold to the Baptist Society worshiping under the Rev. Dr. Somers, being offered on very reasonable terms ($30,000), was purchased, and newly and appropriately fitted up for the occupancy of the Memorial Courch. The interior of the church is neat and substantial, being finished and furnished throughout in black wal-nut. The audience room is 50 by 70 feet, and, including the galleries, contains 150 pews, all cushioned, and will accommodate about 1,000 persons. The windows are glazed with enameled glass in the center, while the ends and sides are filled with stained glass, of ornamental and appropriate colors. The organ is an excellent instrument, corresponding in finish to the furniture of the church, and cost $2,600. The pulpit is an octagon, in the Gothic style, and stands outside the chancel rail. The chancel wall, which is richly panneled, has been tinted to barmonize with the rest of th building; and on a deep-blue ground, in old English characters, is inscribed, "The memory of the just is blessed," which strikes the eye immediately on enter-ing the edifice. The church was formally opened for divine wership as an Episcopal Church on Sanday, May 4, 1856, since which period it has steadily in creased in point of numbers, under the ministry of the Rev. E. R. I. Cook. The Society has gradually wept off its indebtedness, and on Easter Day last, when special collections were taken up for that object, the rector had the estisfaction of announcing that the church was free from embarrassment, and for which result he called upon the flock to praise God in singing the Gloria in Excelsis, which was done with full heart and voice by the whole assembly. Of the amount raised on Easter Day, $220 were brought in by three children, who had collected the same in the Sun-day-School attached to the church within the preceding

At 101 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Bishop Potter, about forty clergymen, together with the wardens and vestrymen of the church, assembled in the vestry and walked in procession (the vestrymen leading) to the front of the building, where they filed to each side of the entrance, when the Bishop passed in, reading, with the attendant clergy, alternate verses of the 24th Pealm. The Bishop, accompanied by the Rev. Dr. Turner, the Rev. Dr. Muhlenberg, the Rev. Dr. Bedell, the Rev. Dr. S. R. Johnson, the Rev. Dr. Cruse, the Rev. Dr. Van Kleeck, the Rev. Dr. Price, the Rev. Dr. W. F. Morgan, the Rev. Lot Jones, the Rev. Mr. Haskins, and the Rev. E. R. I. Cook, entered within the chancel, reading, where the Bishop received from the senior warden the instrument of donation, which was read to the congregation by the Rev. Dr. Van Kleeck, after which the sentence of consecration was read by the Rev. Mr. Haskins. The morning prayer and lessons were read by the Rev. Samuel Hallingsworth, the Rev. Dr. Bedell, the Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Moore and the Rev. Dr. Cressey. The Bishop administered the communion to the clergy, and subsequently it was administered to about 200 members of the society. At the close of the exercises, the clergy, by invitation, partock of a collation in the lecture-room The ladies of the Society embraced the occasion to make a handsome and appropriate present to the Bishop: and a lady of the congregation presented to Mrs. Wainwright, widow of the deceased Bishop, a beautiful token of her respect, consisting of a velvet cushion, on which is embroidered in gold a perfect representation of the "Memorial Church.

A slight ripple in the placid surface of fashionable society has been observable for a few days, in consequence of the elopement of a fair young girl of " sweet seventeen" with her music teacher. The professor of crotchets and quavers is a man of fine personal appearance, and it seems that the subtle magic of his presence awoke that feeling of love which is always latent in the heart of a maiden of that romantic and susceptible age. This feeling was as warmly reciprocated. Of course it would be madness to ask the parents consent to such a match, and so the falliable cure of a stolen marriage was successfully invoked. The unsuspecting old foks were kept in the dark until it was too late for them to interfere with any good effect; and then, like sensible parents, they put up with what could not be mended, had the marriage ceremony reperformed in accordance with their own faith, and magnanimously gave away the wife-bride.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

THE BUSTEED LIBEL SUIT.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—MAY 14.—Before Judge RUSSELL.

This trial was resumed this morning, the Courtroom being crowded as on the previous days. But little additional evidence of importance was taken, the greater part of the day being consumed by counsel in argument for exceptions to portions of the testimony offered.

George H. Purser was recalled. He testified that through the agency of Casper C. Childs, he had ad-though the agercy of Casper C. Childs, he had advanced, at various times, $779.50 on an assigned claim of Thomas N. Carr of $220 against the Corporation, vanced, at various times, $179.50 on an assigned claim of Thomas N. Carr of $20 against the Corporation, for his services as Commissioner for opening Fifty-ninth street from First avenue to the East River. The defense endeavored, on the cross-examination of the witness, to elicit evidence that more than the legal rate of interest was charged by himself in his purchase of the claims of Mr. Carr against the Corporation, but no positive proof of the fact was elicited. An effort was also made to prove that the defendant had written a letter to the witness, after the publication of the libel, in relation to the advance of money, but the Judge rolled it out as inadmissable.

John Runiton testified that he had been employed during the past rice years as law reporter of The Herdia; the paper was published at the corner of Nassan and Fulton street; being shown a paper purporting to be The New-York Herald of April 23 1838, and the alleged libelous letter which appeared in the sheet, he princurved the paper, according to his bast knowledge and belief, a genuine copy of Tae New-York Herald of the date mentioned.

Thomas McCoy testified that he was employed by the late Lorenzo B. Seepard as the bill paster for the Corporation. He procured the posters in the case of the opening of Fifty minth street at the office of the Corporation Counsel under Mr. Busteed. He had the opening of Fifty ninth street at the office of the Corporation Counsel under Mr. Busteed. He had these poeters put in conspicuous places throughout the city. No cos followed him to tear them down. He was in the habit of driving to the places afterward to see that they were not torn down.

Thee. Carroll was recalled by the defense, and an attempt made to prove irregularities in the charges of the Corporation Counsel's office under the prosecut st, but the attempt failed.

During the cross-examination of the witness, Mr. Whiting offered to put in evidence a letter written by Mr. Cair subsequent to the publication of the alleged libelous letter, retracting some of the statements made in the letter. Mr. Whiting had not concluded his argument upon the admission of this letter at the hour (3 p. m.) when the Court adjourned.

An adjournment took place till 10 a. m. Monday.
